

Teaching Skills for Library Staff

A one-day course on Teaching Skills for Library Staff, run by Chris Powis & Jo Webb, will be held on Tuesday 21st April 2020 at the Leicester Creative Business Depot from 9.45 am to 4.30 pm.

The course which aims to build on participants' current experiences of teaching information skills in libraries and learning centres, offers stimulating discussion and an excellent opportunity to share experiences. If you are working with young people, students, small groups of library users or staff this course will help you develop your skills as a teacher and trainer.

Practical tips for teaching library users will be set within a theoretical framework of teaching and learning.

Places are now available and early booking is strongly recommended.

Please complete the booking form to reserve a place and return to LIEM by email: training@liem.org.uk.

Cost for participants from LIEM member organisations is £70.00 (£90.00 for non-members) and includes lunch and refreshments.

Aims

To enable participants to understand theories of teaching and learning and to map these on to their own experience of teaching.

To provide participants with strategies to plan, deliver, assess and evaluate their teaching activities.

Objectives

At the end of the workshop participants will:

- Be able to relate theories of teaching and learning to their experiences of teaching
- Be able to plan a teaching and learning event
- Be able to match appropriate teaching methods to learning needs
- Have strategies to assess the effectiveness of their teaching
- Have strategies to evaluate their teaching
